ORCHARDIST BARNES SHOWS HOW TO MAKE FRUIT TREES PRODUCE

P. T. Barnes of State Department Gives Demonstration at Dr. Smith's Orchard

SAYS PRUNING IS NECESSARY

In Teaching Orchard How to Shoot Much Care Must Be Taken. Expert Explains to Large Crowd at Fallowfield Exhibit.

How to make an orchard produce the most fruit was demonstrated by P. T. Barnes, representing Dr. H. A. Surface, state zoologist at the orchard of Dr. J. K. Smith, in Fallowfield township Wednesday afternoon.

The demonstration was somewhat technical. The first thing that was done was to prepare a wash. A lime sulphur wash was boiled, using lime and sulphur at the rate of one pound of lime and two pounds of sulphur in a gallon of water. It was boiled for 45 minutes. Mr. Barnes explained that the home boiled lime sulphur was more economical where considerable was used, but where only a small amount was needed the cost of the kettle overshadowed the saving. He related where one orchardist who boiled five barrels last year saved $15 on his day's work.

Having boiled the spray material The crowd adjourned to the hill where peach and apple trees were pruned. The peach trees were tall and needed heavy cutting back to get them in shape. This heavy pruning did two things, Mr. Barnes explained. It helped to spread the trees and would also serve to thin the fruit to some extent.

Mr. Barnes is spending today in Dr. Smith's orchard, pruning. He is putting in shape a demonstration plot as an example of what to do with similar trees.

CHECKS ISSUED TO NEWSPAPERS FOR ADVERTISING AMENDMENTS

Full Amount aid by Auditor General After Legislature and Governor Had Got Busy.

A number of newspapers over the state have within the last day or two received checks from the state in payment of their bills for the publication of advertising matter in connection with the proposed constitutional amendments. The checks were issued for the full amount of bills after the legislature and governor had investigated where bills were found to be correct and just. Payment had been held up for a long time by the auditor general, who two years ago reduced the amount due nearly every newspaper on the theory that there were not enough funds.

MAN INJURED AT LOCK DIES IN THE HOSPITAL

Edward Young Does Not Live Long After Being Entered in Pittsburg Institution---Was Internally Hurt When Whirled About a Shaft

From injuries received while at work at Lock No. 4 Wednesday, Edward Young, aged 37 years, died in the Allegheny General hospital at Pittsburg late Wednesday night.

Young was bending over a main shaft at the lock, when his clothing was caught on a key pin. He was whirled round the shaft, until one of his lower limbs and an arm were fractured. Also he was injured about the left side and evidently hurt internally so as to cause his early demise.

Young is said to have been married but his wife it is stated has not been at Lock No. 4. He came from Pittsburg to the lock to accept work with the government which is re-building the lock.

HEAVY DAMAGE CLAIM IS FOUGHT IN COURT

Case of Thomas Lake Against Vesta Coal Company is Taken Up—Shocked by Electricity, Was Thrown in Front of Car.

Heard before Judge Irwin Wednesday in the county court was the suit of Henry Lake, Sr., against the Vesta Coal company. Heavy damages are sought by reason of serious injuries received by Thomas Lake, a son, while employed as a snapper in the mines of the defendant company. While so employed he came in contact with an electric wire, was thrown violently to the floor of the entry, and struck by pit cars, sustaining severe injuries. The accident occurred on August 21, 1913.

The contention of the plaintiff was that the trolley wire at the point where the accident occurred, a crossover, was not protected as required by law, and also that it was not the required height above the rail. The defense claimed that Thomas Lake was guilty of contributory negligence and thereby sustained the injuries.

FIREMEN AND HIGH SCHOOL TEAM WILL PLAY A GAME

Benefit Attraction to be Staged at the High School Gymnasium Next Monday Night by Local Fives.

Next Monday evening will be a big evening at the Charleroi high school gymnasium, this being the time set for a benefit basketball game for the Charleroi Fire Department. The fire department basketball team and the Charleroi high school will play a game, and there will be a preliminary between a second fire company team and a second high school team.

It is probable that the usual lineup will appear for high school, and the firemen's team will be picked from among the following players: A Hudspith, G. Hudspich, Sharp, Campbell, H. Lowstuter, E. Lowstuter, Vetter and Middleton.

ROUND TABLE MEETING TO BE HELD SATURDAY

Educators of County to Gather at County Seat—Good Program is Arranged and Officers Will be Elected.

Teachers and principals from all sections of Washington county will gather in Washington, Saturday, for the meeting of the Principals' and Teachers' Round Table. The meeting will be held in the office of County Superintendent L. R. Crumrine in the court house, sessions being held both morning and afternoon. At the morning session an election of officers for the Round Table will be held.

In the afternoon Dr. F. W. Hinitt of Washington and Jefferson college, will address the meeting. This will be followed by a round table discussion on the "Trend of Education Thought," which will be led by R. G. Dean of Monongahela, L. R. Crumrine of Washington and T. G. McCleary of Washington.

AMBITION OF BOYS STIRRED BY ADDRESS OF EVANGELIST

Rattling Good Talk Made to Lads at Wednesday Afternoon Meeting—Way to be Great Told.

Boys who attended the boys' meeting at the Fifth street tabernacle Wednesday afternoon had their ambition stirred to become Christians by a rattling talk by Evangelist Minges on "Margins." There were about 200 present.

When the lads arrived they were started singing, and then Song Leader Rockwell organized a band. He had them singing, whistling and tooting at a great rate.

The evangelist told the boys that every man on the Supreme Court bench was a Christian, and that their way to be great was to become Christians. He told them plainly that somebody in his audience some day would be a great man, and he was not one of the don't care kind. Numerous illustrations were given. The lads were asked how many smoked, and then how many of them had seen their fathers drunk. A surprisingly large number of hands were elevated.

MARTIN QUITS ROAD NEXT WEEK TO TAKE UP POSTMASTERSHIP

Successful Democrat, Who Recently Landed County Seat Plum Preparing Himself For Place

Washington, the county seat will have a new postmaster next Monday, when Joseph W. Martin will take his seat. He was in Charleroi on Wednesday drilling a man into the ways of traveling salesmanship to take the place he has held for ten years with a Pittsburg firm.

The next event of interest in Washington county democracy will be the election of a chairman to take Martin's place. Samuel A. Barnum of California who made an unsuccessful fight for congress is the man considered as a probability by many Democrats.

PREPARE PROGRAM FOR CHAUTAUQUA

Good Attractions to be Seen in Charleroi During the Coming Season

MANY NEW FEATURES ADDED

The first important information as to the Chautauqua program for the coming season has just been made. Strong features are included. If arrangements are carried out, the Charleroi Chautauqua will be held about the latter part of June, or during a part of July at a location to be decided later.

The morning hour educational lectures, which were considered by many to be among the most interesting features of the Chautauqua last summer will be continued, and men who are scholars will be engaged for the work. Boy Scout work will be followed up and a new feature of child education will be introduced by young women who are now being trained at the Columbia School of Expression. This work will comprise fairy, historic, folk-lore and other stories and national games.

Sands' Premier Military band and the Ben Greet players are the only attractions to be repeated. The Weber Male Quartet of New York, said by experts to be a big find in quartet work, the Ziegler-Howe orchestra and Sutphen's Metropolitan Music Men are the other first-class companies already engaged.

Grosvenor Dawe, of Washington, D. C., who is said to be an inspiring lecturer on community and commercial lines, and a man who is in constant demand in the larger cities has been engaged to speak on "A Man's Duty to His Community."

Ernest Wray O'Neil for six years the pastor of the First Methodist church, of Chicago, will speak on "Popular Fallacies."

Pamahasiko and his trained pets will take the place usually assigned to a magician on this year's program. The program is being made up as rapidly as possible for the season, and complete announcement will be forthcoming in due time.

Delegation of Local Department Occupy Section at Fifth Street Tabernacle

SERMON, "CAUGHT IN ACT"

Forceful Address Made by Evangelist —Business Men's Meeting Held at Office of Henry Sheets—Other Meetings Arranged.

An impressive service was held at the Fifth street tabernacle Wednesday night, with one of the leading features being an especially pointed and strong sermon by the evangelist on the theme, "Caught in the Act." Taking the sin of David as his lesson he drove shot after shot home with telling effect.

Wednesday night was firemen's night, and headed by Chief J. M. Fleming, about 30 firemen were present, occupying a special central section reserved for them. The firemen's delegation was the first of any delegation to attend the services in a body, and it is expected that others will be accommodated at different times.

Song Leader Rockwell introduced what he was pleased to term a "band." This was in a party of a score or more of boys which he had sing, hum and whistle. The boy's "band" was heartily applauded, as was Mr. Rockwell. The chorus choir sang one special number and the evangelistic male quartet sang.

The business men's prayer meeting this morning was held at the office of Henry Sheets on Fifth street and Fallowfield, the location of the first prayer meeting of the kind held during the campaign now well under way. Several other prayer meetings were held at various points.

Tomorrow's prayer meetings will be held at the following homes: Mrs. B. D. Blaker, 404 Fallowfield avenue, in Frew building; Mrs. H. Watkinson, 629 Washington avenue; Mrs. David Stewart, 601 Sixth street; Mrs. Blanche Jacobs, 503 Second street; Mrs. John Hogan, Lockview.

Tonight the theme of Evangelist Minges sermon will be "Conscience." Like Wednesday's sermon, it is a strong one.

Though no definite statement has been made since Monday, the number of conversions now is close to 450, and the campaign is just well under way. There were a number of conversions Wednesday evening when the invitation was extended.

Caught In The Act.

The sermon text Wednesday night was taken from the second chapter of Samuel. It was the story of David and Uriah, how David the king had seen the wife of Uriah and wanted her; how he put Uriah at the battle-front that he might be slain, and then how when Uriah was killed, he took his wife. Then he told how God sent the prophet Nathan to David, and told him the story of the ewe lamb, and how indignant David was at such an act, and said that such a one should restore ten fold. Then Nathan said, "Thou art the man". He said in part: You can't hide your crime and you

THE HOMES OF THE NATION.

That the man who owns a house and lives in it has a better sense of responsibility than the one who does not, is the argument of the Youth's Companion, which prints the following editorial:

That the people of a nation should own the roofs over their heads has always recognized as desirable. It has been generally assumed that we in the United States have both the purpose and the opportunity to put that ideal into practice; but figures drawn from the census of 1910 go to show that as a matter of fact we are doing nothing of the sort.

The total number of homes in the United States, on farms, in cities, and in villages, is estimated at 20,255,555 and rather more than half of them are hired. The proportion of hired houses is naturally lowest in the country, but since 1880 the percentage of tenant farmers has increased from 25.6 to 37. In large cities the conditions are reversed. More than one quarter of the 20,255,555 homes are in cities that contain 100,000 inhabitants or more, and here the percentage of hired houses, or rather dwelling places, reaches 74—a figure that holds good also for two great cities, Chicago and Philadelphia; in New York, the city of a million "homes," as the census uses the term, the percentage rises as high as 88. Spokane is the only one of fifty of the larger cities in which it falls below 50 per cent.

For the continued well-being of a democracy, it is essential that every voter have a sense of economic responsibility. The expenditure of the public money is a matter that comes up in some form at every election; but voters who have had little experience in controlling anything of their own are not the persons best fitted to say how the public money shall be spent. The participation of voters unfit in this respect for government is one of the great causes of the political ills that manifest themselves in our large cities and in our manufacturing and mining communities.

There is nothing that so naturally and effectively quickens the voter's sense of economic responsibility as owning his house. The need of keeping up and improving his property compels him to act soberly and intelligently, and the care of what is his own quickens his perception of the rights of others.

Moreover, when a family has once struck its roots in the ground it is unlikely to hold; and nothing keeps the sense of responsibility alive in a man so surely as the consciousness that the family is united.

COMMONPLACE

At least one of the drawbacks so conspicuous at executions under the old form is equally conspicuous by its absence at the new death house in Centre county where murderers are now electrocuted, maintains the Uniontown Herald. This is the crowd of morbidly curious which was formerly attracted to each execution. Already this feature is missing. The second execution under the new law was held on Monday and there were no witnesses present except the guards and the physicians. No applications for permission to witness the electrocution were made to Warden John Francies and not even a representative of the press was present. On the occasion of the last execution there was quite an attendance and much interest was shown because it was the first of the new system. But with the novelty passed the curiosity, and the ceremony of execution of convicted criminals now attracts only commonplace attention. This results in turn in a toning down of the press accounts of the affairs, and thus a general advance has been made in the circumstances surrounding the grimmest duty of the state.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

It is related that two men of Irish extraction had an argument as to which smelled the worse, a goat or a tramp. One maintained the goat did while the other held in favor of the tramp, though they agreed both smelled badly enough.

Finally a third man was selected as a judge of the competition which the pair arranged to hold to decide the question. A goat was procured and a tramp was induced to visit the place. The judge appeared, and the goat was brought in. The judge fell dead. Then the tramp was brought in and the goat fell dead.

The graduate of the correspondence school of journalism was mixed up in the recent fire in the New York subway. We know he is a graduate of the C. S. of J. because here is his testimony as given at the official inquiry into the disaster:

The Stygian darkness ensued, momentarily interrupted by fitful gleams of weird electricity that rose and fell with ghastly effect. Men stood riveted to the spot, women screamed in abject terror, and pandemonium reigned. To increase the realism of living death that seemed to be enshrouding the sepulchral aspect of the place a demoniacal guard of barbarous foreign countenance and accent in guttural tones ordered the transoms closed. I knew the end was nigh and with calm indifference, devoid of hope, awaited the last grewsome catastrophe.

AERIAL TRAIL BREAKING.

Amazing Speed and Endurance of the Wild Swan In Flight.

It is impossible for one who has seen only the common mute swans floating about in the artificial lakes of city parks to imagine the grandeur of a flock of the great whistlers in their wild state. In "Wild Life and the Camera" Mr. A. R. Dugmore says the sight is one of the most impressive in nature. As the long birds rise into the air it seems as if an aerial regatta were being sailed overhead, the swans, each with a wing spread of six or seven feet, moving like yachts under full sail.

Once the swans are fairly under way their speed is amazing, nearly a hundred miles an hour, and that, too, with no apparent effort, for the slow wing motion is very deceiving. Their endurance is as surprising as their speed, for they are said to travel a thousand miles without alighting.

The flocks are usually led by an old and experienced swan, and it is said that as one becomes tired of leading, or it might be called aerial trail breaking, his place is taken by another whose strength is equal to the task, and so they continue until they reach their destination, the southern feeding grounds of the winter or the northern breeding places of the summer. Occasionally they stop to rest in the region of the great lakes. Not many years ago, while on their way north, a large number stopped above Niagara falls, and more than a hundred were by some extraordinary mischance carried over the falls and killed in the surging waters.

Whether the swans prepare in any special way for their southward journey is not known, but before starting north they indulge in the curious habit known as "ballasting"—that is to say, they eat great quantities of sand, for what purpose no one knows.

In the faraway Arctic ocean is their breeding place, and it is believed that they mate for life. As with so many of the water birds, the swans protect their eggs with a covering of down scratched from their own breasts, so that when the birds leave the nest the two to six large, yellowish eggs are hidden from the eyes of possible thieves and protected against any sudden changes of temperature.

It is many years before the swans are clothed in the feathers of immaculate whiteness that make them such conspicuous objects of beauty. Not, indeed, until the fifth year does all trace of gray disappear. Their first feathers are entirely gray. Gradually they lighten, becoming mottled with white, the neck and head remaining gray until after the body is completely white.

I have read many attempts to describe shell fire in a battle, but not one to equal the easy description of this young officer, who does not pretend to be a stylist. Listen:

"You hear a boom miles away, hardly audible in the distance. Then a faint sigh, gradually rising to a scream, as the shell whizzes toward you. Then a flash, an immense crash and the air is filled with thousands of bullets and jagged lumps of iron, each making a different sort of shrieking noise. Then phit-phit-phit everywhere as they hit the ground.

ARE YOU GOING TO THE EXPOSITION?

Millions Thronging to Most Marvelous of World's Expositions, the Great Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco

Low Railroad Rates and Privileges of Routing Never Before Possible Are Included In the Many Inducements to Visit America's Great Panama Canal Celebration. $50,000,000 Invested; 80,000 Exhibitors Represented.

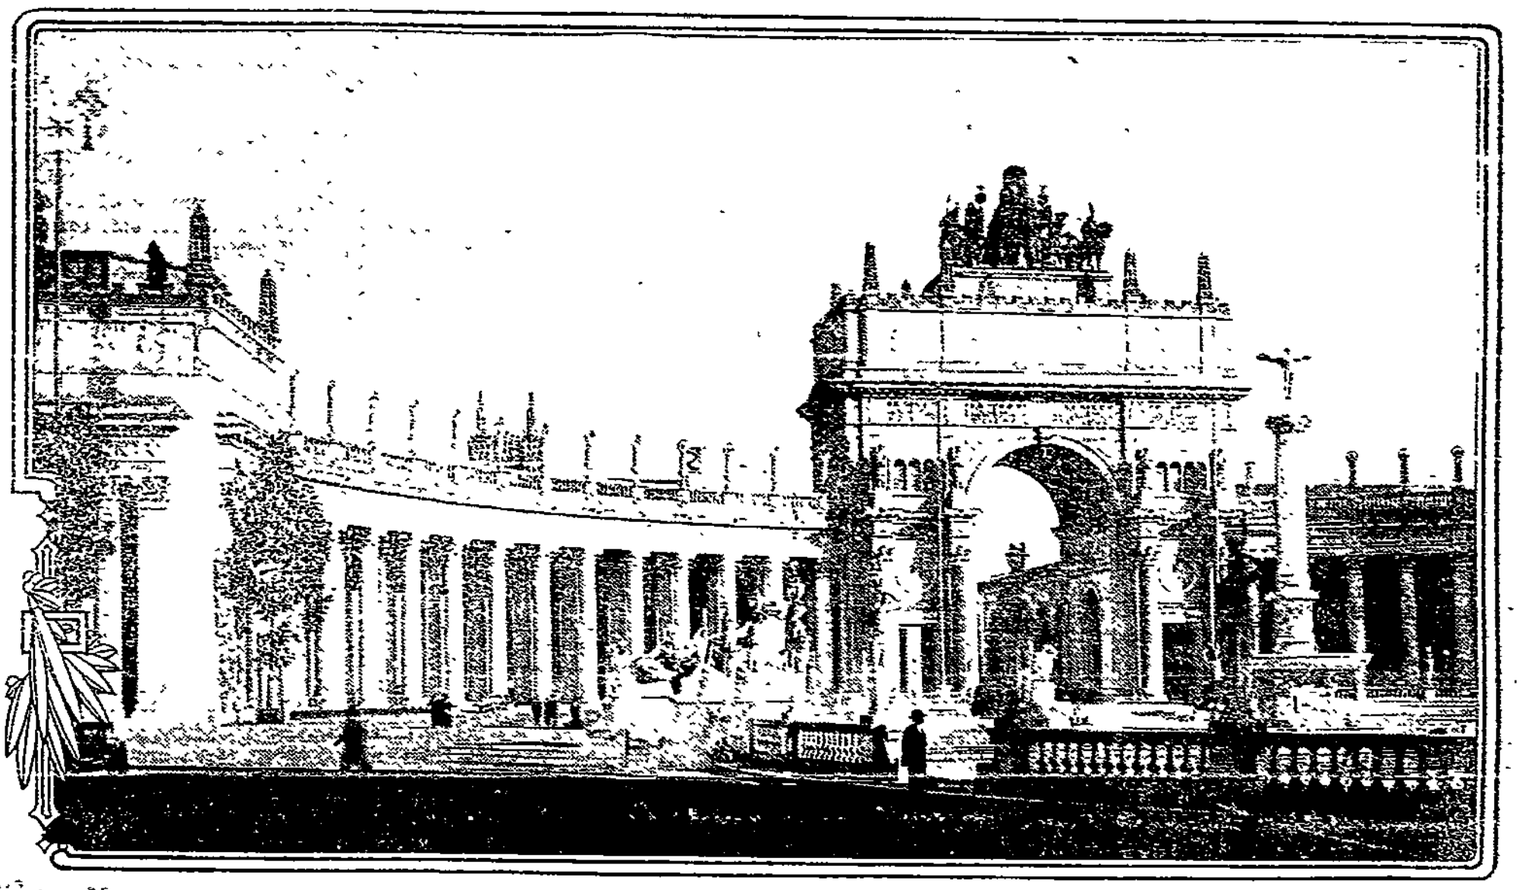
IT is estimated by the traffic experts of the great trans-continental railways that the travel movement westward during the present year, with the great world's Exposition at San Francisco as the goal, will be the greatest in all history. There are but few persons anywhere who have not felt the longing to visit California some time, and with the attraction of the world's greatest and possibly its last universal Exposition to draw them westward those who go traveling in 1915 will "see America first," with San Francisco as an objective.

Some indication of the interest taken in the Panama-Pacific International Exposition is found in the pre-Exposition attendance, the greatest in the entire history of expositions, amounting to an average of 10,000 persons a day. These visitors carried away with them to all parts of the country and of the world accounts of the beauties and the marvels they had seen, and as a result the remark has become common throughout the United States and abroad, "It's not a case of 'Can I afford to visit the Exposition?' but 'Can I afford to MISS it?'"

The Panama-Pacific International Exposition has more foreign national pavilions than any exposition ever held—this in spite of the European war.

No exposition ever was situated as this one is where such a large number of the scenic wonders of the world can be visited at no increase of cost while en route, going and coming, and it is the only great International Exposition to be ready on time. The rates agreed upon by the great transportation companies, of approximately one-half fare for the round trip, with a ninety day limit, have never been equaled.

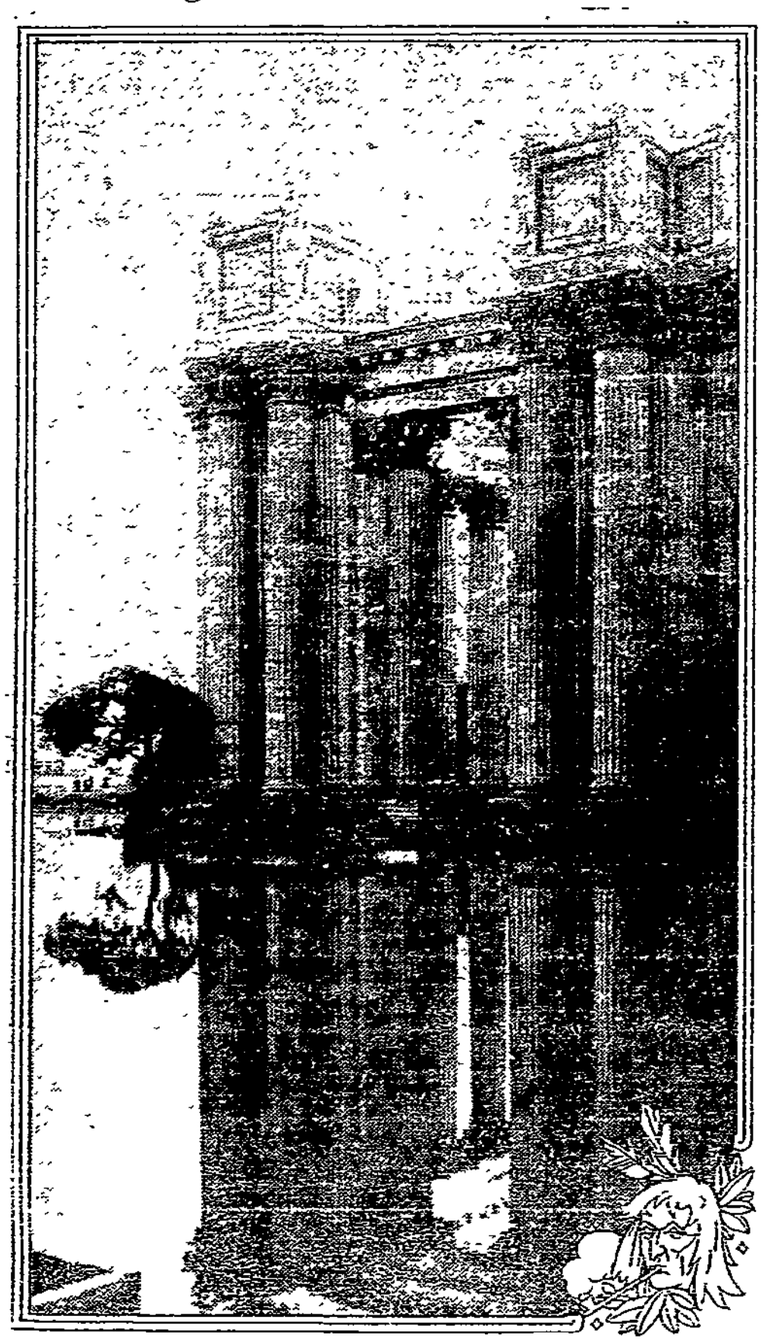
Certainly not in this generation, and probably not for generations to come, will such an opportunity be offered to combine in one trip visits to the scenic wonder spots of the continent, with the education and entertainment to be had in the dazzling wonderland that has risen on the shore of the Pacific.



Mighty Arches Mark Huge Court of the Universe.

Arch of the Rising Sun, Court of the Universe, Panama-Pacific International Exposition, San Francisco. This is the grand central court of the Exposition, 900 by 500 feet, with a companion arch, the Arch of the Setting Sun, at the west portal. Each arch, with its sculptured groups, symbolical of the nations of the east and west, is 188 feet in height.

Colossal Colonnades of the Greco-Roman Wings to Palace of Fine Arts.



Curving 1,100 feet around the foliaged shores of the Fine Arts lagoon, Panama-Pacific International Exposition, these mighty pillars are reflected, mirror-like, in the limpid waters of the lagoon, affording one of the prettiest views at San Francisco's great Exposition.

ATTRACTIVE BOOK ON THE PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION AND PANAMA CANAL MAILED FREE.

A HANDSOME book of sixty pages, profusely illustrated in colors and giving detailed descriptions of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition to be held in San Francisco from Feb. 20 to Dec. 4, 1915, and of the Panama canal and canal region, will be mailed by the Exposition free of charge to all inquirers. The booklet is intended for prospective visitors and will also contain information concerning the great engineering feat which the Exposition is to celebrate. Write to the Manager, Bureau of Publication, Panama-Pacific International Exposition, Exposition Building, San Francisco, for booklet.

ALL UNIVERSAL EXPOSITIONS STAND FOR PEACE.

By R. B. Hale, Vice President of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, Who First Suggested the Holding of the Great Exposition to Celebrate the Opening of the Panama Canal.

THE following interesting article by R. B. Hale, vice president of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition of San Francisco expresses the keynote of this greatest and most wonderful celebration of all time. Mr. Hale is one of the foremost public men of America, and his thoughtful article shows a marvelous grasp of the subject and will prove of value and interest to every reader of this paper.

Most Interesting In History.

The Panama-Pacific International Exposition, which is now finished, stands revealed as the most interesting Exposition in history. Those who have not yet visited the Exposition should make early plans to visit San Francisco. The railroads are granting low round trip rates, and one can see the United States under more favorable conditions than have ever before obtained. Forty-three nations are participating in the Exposition upon a vast scale. Read Mr. Hale's wonderful article and you will gain an idea of the purpose that inspired the builders of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. He says:

Universal expositions, of which the Panama-Pacific International Exposition is the fourth in the United States, have always stood for peace. In Philadelphia in 1876 the Hon. Joseph R. Hawley, president of the Centennial Exposition, in his opening remarks said: "From the association here of welcome visitors from all nations there may result not alone great benefits to invention, manufactures, agriculture, trade and commerce, but also stronger international friendship and more lasting peace."

"Acquaintance Softens Prejudice."

"Acquaintance softens prejudice" has been ringing in my ears ever since those three words were uttered by a foreign graduate of one of our American universities in a speech delivered some years ago. The learned statesman, Hon. Elihu Root, voiced the same sentiment when about to leave the high office of secretary of state in substantially these words, "It were impossible for any nation to be at war if the peoples of the conflicting countries understood each other."

Universal expositions soften prejudices, remove commercial antipathies and settle political differences by bringing the people of all nations into friendly intercourse for the discussion of ideas, the exchange of commodities and for the advancement of mankind socially, morally, intellectually and commercially. They reflect the thought and action of peaceful pursuits and reach their greatest successes during or following long periods of national and international peace. Their exhibits are the product of the arts of peace, and their object is the promotion of peaceful activity in thought and word and deed. They are the antithesis of war, the embodiment of peace. Their grounds are set apart as extraterritorial, devoted to the use of all nations and all peoples on a parity and equality. The Panama-Pacific International Exposition grounds today are common to all. No creed or race is barred; all have equal rights and privileges. It is neutral ground for warring or tranquil nations alike. It is one great democracy where all unite in contributing to an expression of gratitude for the present and inspiration for the future, and because the exposition is really the child of peace do we deem it a privilege—aye, even a duty—to enter our protest against the terrible conditions now prevailing in Europe.

"Peace—Peace For Humanity."

It is idle to presume that anything that we can do here today will have any material influence in the immediate settlement of the greatest war in history, involving more than half the people of the civilized world, but we can raise our voices in earnest protest against conditions in Europe too terrible to contemplate in loss of life, in the destruction of property, in the suffering of homeless women and children and in the effect upon the world at large. Commercial activity is checked, industries are paralyzed, civilization is being forced backward, human impulses are being supplanted by the brutal practices of war. The cries of the innocent have sounded a call for relief, and with dynamic force that is generating a sentiment through the length and breadth of this country for peace. Every one seems sobered and serious and determined. That one word has taken on a new significance, a new meaning—peace—peace for humanity, peace to pursue the upward and onward course of civilization, peace and rest and tranquillity for the millions who suffer, suffering in spirit as those unfortunate soldiers are suffering in body, royalty and subject together in the present awful European conflict. They desire a cessation forever of the super-cruel methods of warfare as a means of settlement of international contention.

Each closing day hope looks forward to the morning hoping that word shall come that our brothers in Europe shall have laid aside their arms. That glorious day must come and when it does will it not be possible to respond to the world's wail that the sword of anger and of hate be sheathed forever? Then shall come the time for international convention and treaty. Great statesmen will be engaged in negotiating the tremendous document. Speaking out of inexperience and from afar among myriad minds, we ourselves hope that in this treaty there shall be established such a basis of defense on land as is alone necessary to protect local peace and that such armed ships as are necessary to police the sea shall alone be permitted, each nation contributing its quota to this international naval police, which shall be controlled in its movements by an international admiralty, whose whole duty shall be to preserve peace instead of prepare for war.

Site of Peace Conference.

The Exposition in San Francisco will have reached its highest purpose if it can in any way assist in the settlement of the terrific conflict which is now being waged with such titanic fierceness, hellish weapons and awful consequences. The Exposition being set apart on extraterritorial grounds, dedicated to the use of all nations on terms of equality, could privately, without publicity or embarrassment, be used for a peace conference designed to settle the differences of the warring nations and bring about the signing of a treaty of peace for which the world is praying.

New Cycle of Brotherly Love.

One effect of the war now in progress will be to emphasize the importance of and intensify the interest in the great international peace congress projected by the management of the Exposition. Let us hope that this war may be recorded history before this congress convenes. The horrors of present day warfare will then be fully appreciated and those most directly affected may be available with their experience and advice to assist in preparing a code of international law and police powers and provide such other recommendations as may be best fitted to insure lasting peace.

And when we look into the future may we find the new cycle of brotherly love superseding the discord of today. May the settlement of international strife by war and blood and suffering and devastation be supplanted by conference and negotiation and arbitration; then will follow rest and peace and contentment for the everlasting enjoyment of mankind. As John G. Whittier beautifully expressed it in his Centennial hymn in 1876.

Oh, make thou us through centuries long
In peace secure, in justice strong;
Around our gift of freedom draw
The safeguards of thy righteous law,
And, cast in some diviner mold,
Let the new cycle shame the old.

MEADOW AVENUE SHOWS MUCH DEVELOPMENT

The frame work of a dwelling being erected on Meadow avenue between Third and Fourth streets for V. E. Reeves has practically been completed. This will be the fourth house erected in this plan in the last few months, others having been built for Thomas Moore, Ray Humbert and A. G. Lewis. The bungalow style home for Mr. Lewis is just being finished, as is the dwelling for Mr. Humbert.

RETURNS FROM SCENE OF LAYLAND DISASTER

"Joe" Mason Tells of Joy of Imprisoned Miners When They were Reached—Was in Party First to Reach Suffering Men.

H. D. Mason of the United States Bureau of Mines was an over night visitor in Charleroi at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Frye of Fifth street, having just returned from the scene of the recent explosion at the Layland mine in West Virginia. "Joe" as he is popularly known here was one of the two experts sent from the Pittsburg station to the explosion. With a companion he managed to work his way into a room where some of the unfortunate miners were penned. The miners were overjoyed to see them when they arrived. Other experiences in this rather unusual explosion were related by Mason. He has seen service at various mine disasters among them being that of the Cincinnati mine at Courtney, where he and others of the United States department did valiant work.

COAL BEING SHIPPED ON MONTOUR RAILROAD

The Pittsburg Coal company's mine No 4. betwenen Thompsonville and Hills, on the Montour railroad, is now shipping some coal. It goes to the end of the line on the Monongahela river. The road runs a passenger train in the morning from Mifflin yards, near the Monongahel river, to North Star, and returns from North Star as far as Thompsonville, where it arrives about 11. In the afternoon it runs again to North Star, and in the evening makes the run to Mifflin yards, from which point it is started in the morning.

A GREAT CHANCE

COMPARATIVELY SMALL DAMAGED FROM BLAZE

Home of Jacob Zeidman on Lincoln Avenue is Visited by Fire That Looks More Dangerous Than it Proves to be.

A fire that looked dangerous for a while but was easily controlled occurred at the home of Jacob Zeidman on Lincoln avenue near First street at 12:15 today. The fire started in the basement from a washing machine connection and a dangerous looking blaze and dense smoke was the result. Fire alarm No. 13 was turned in and the fire truck was on the scene almost as soon as the bell quit ringing. Chemicals were used to extinguish the blaze, which did comparatively small damage.

FOUND NOT GUILTY OF THE SHELCROSS MURDER

George Adalic, on trial since Monday, charged with the murder of Thomas Shelcross at Library, was found not guilty by a jury in quarter sessions court at Pittsburg Wednesday. The jury retired at 4:50 o'clock Tuesday afternoon remaining out long before they agreed on the verdict.

The killing of Shelcross occurred the night of November 16.

Attempted Suicide Reported.

Following two weeks of despondency and frequently repeated statements that she was of no use in life, Mrs. Phoebe Amos, wife of Herbert Amos at Washington Tuesday evening made an unsuccessful attempt upon her life. The woman, evidently suffering from over indulgence in liquor and raving was later removed to the borough lockup.

PERSISTENT BEAVERS.

A Battle of Wits Between the Animals and the Engineers.

When the Grand Trunk railway ran its line across a swamp in a game preserve on the line of the Alberta Rockies there was a wonderfully constructed beaver dam holding the water back to flood the swamp.

This in the eyes of the game warden was pure waste, and he ordered the engineers to prevent it without harming the beavers. Of course the dam could have been blown up with dynamite, but that would have meant the death of most of the little animals and death very likely in great pain at that.

So the engineers cut an opening in the dam. The mud had become almost as hard as concrete, and it took the men three days to get the water running out steadily. Then, thinking their troubles with the industrious little fellows over, they started work on the railway through the swamp.

Soon the water began to rise, and the work was stopped in a few hours. The engineers made all haste to the dam and found the animals had repaired the cut and made it tight again.

A fresh cut was made, but after the men had gone the beavers busied themselves and made it stronger than ever. Work was again stopped on the railroad within a few hours.

Then a deep hole was made in the earth far under the dam. The beavers were much puzzled. Never before had they seen water go down into the ground and come up far away. But they lent their whole attention to the problem, and the work on the railroad was again stopped as a consequence and the foundations soaked with water.

Then followed an engagement of wits between the beavers and the engineers. But every time the men found a way to cut the dam in a new place the beavers found a way to stop it.

The road was finally constructed by working a few hours at a time, and the loss to the contractors amounted to more than $5,000.—Detroit Free Press.

Asking Too Much of the Bank.

The officials of the English savings bank department [illegible] correspondence notes, occasionally find themselves regarded as a kind of universal purveyors. A depositor sent his bank book with this modest request: "There are some little things I should like to get from London, and one is some natural leaf tobacco. I should be glad if you will send two ounces and charge to my account. It is only to be obtained in the largest tobacco stores." We failed to comply with his wishes, whereupon he wrote an indignant letter to the comptroller of our department.—Manchester Guardian.

Languages of India.

One hundred and fifty different languages are spoken in India, most of them unwritten, and this fact frequently leads to trouble in the courts of that oriental country. Strangely enough, Indians frequently drift into that capital who can find no one able to understand their vernacular. Neither the court nor the court interpreters understand some of the litigants and witnesses in legal cases.

AGRICULTURAL BUREAU MEETING IS ANNOUNCED

Letters Sent Out to Members of Advisory Board—Everybody in County Invited to be Present And to Participate in Affairs.

The following letter has been sent out by the Secretary of the Washington County Agricultural Bureau to all members of the advisory board. It applies as well to every citizen of Washington county. Inasmuch as the bureau is supported by state and county funds raised by taxation, everyone who cares to do so has a right to be considered a member of the Washington county agricultural bureau and have a vote as to the organization and activities of this bureau. It is understood that everyone is not only invited to attend this meeting but should feel it important to themselves to be present. The letter follows:

Dear Sir: The third annual meeting of the Washington county agricultural bureau will be held in the community building, Washington, at 10 a. m. March 13th. A number of important matters are to come up, such as: A full report of the past year's work; plans for the coming year with a general discussion and suggestions from those present and the election of officers.

It has not been deemed advisable to arrange for any entertainment or talk in connection with this meeting inasmuch as the executive committee feels that all the available time will be needed in taking up matters dealing directly with the work of our agricultural bureau and of vital importance to the county.

Everyone is invited to attend this meeting. The bureau is supported by state and county funds for the benefit of all so that everyone has a right to meet with the bureau. Be on hand promptly.

Very truly yours,
R. M. Carrans, Sec'y.
Washington County Agricultural Bureau.

might as well make sure right now that your sin will find you out, as it did with David. A crow may fly a great many miles but it never goes so fast but that its tail gets there about as quick as it does. Just so, my brother, you cannot get very far away from your sin or crime. The lowest down devil on earth is the man that sneaks around the home of some man and breaks it up and takes his wife, and if all such men had their just deserts, there wouldn't be telegraph poles enough to hang them on.

You stand condemned tonight, my brother, if you haven't paid the debt you owe to God. You say that you have been a church member for years. What have you done? You have been robbing the church of your help and influence and means for years. "Thou art the man"; a robber and a thief before God.
